The world was watching ... and talking

MEDIA Violent protests competed with weighty issues like the global economy in headlines yesterday of the international media covering the G20 summit.

While the world's leaders continued their talks ensconced behind two high security fences, international media were tasked with juggling protests with politics as they turned their lenses on the city's usually peaceful streets.

Some south of the border zoned in on the violence, likening Toronto to a war zone. "The streets of Toronto have become a battlefield," wrote the New York Daily News.

"Violence, vandalism rock G20 protests," declared a CNN headline. "Black Bloc tactics mar Canada's G20 summit," said another in the Christian Science Monitor.

U.K.-based Reuters news agency focused on the police presence in some of its coverage while noting the "surprising violence on Toronto's normally tranquil streets."

10 hours for an orange

One man said he spent 10 hours inside the makeshift summit detention centre for accidentally taking police officers' oranges. Edward Canavan said he was in the "wrong place at the wrong time" Saturday as he stopped to watch a police car burn on Queen Street West. He happened to see a box of food which had been dropped off for the officers. Not realizing, Canavan says he took a couple of oranges.

After the mayhem, few were as busy cleaning up as Michael Byrne.

Byrne's company has the contract to fix the broken windows and doors of Starbucks Coffee, whose downtown outlets were targeted by vandals Saturday.

By mid-afternoon yesterday, Byrne and his 10 employees had boarded up with plywood a dozen outlets in a 24-hour period. And he expected to keep working at protecting both smashed and undamaged storefronts until his plywood ran out.

"I don't think we were prepared for the magnitude of what happened. It's pretty shocking," said Byrne.

Byrne started making regular service calls for Starbucks at 5:30 a.m. Saturday. At about 3 p.m., he got his first call from the company to board up a downtown outlet with a smashed window. Thus began a wild night of ducking protesters and dashing from one outlet to another.

"At Queen and John (streets), we had four attempts to get to the Starbucks ... We were chased away by a protester with a hockey stick one time," said Byrne, 49, owner of Explore1.ca

On Queen Street West, the scene of burning police cars Saturday, merchants surveyed the damage yesterday and noted there was method to the madness of rioters. They targeted the icons of consumerism and financing.

The list of battered stores on the strip between University and Spadina includes Starbucks, Foot Locker, Nike and Gap. Every bank branch along the strip also had windows smashed.

Independent shop owners were spared — at least by the rioters. These merchants instead complained of a sharp drop in business due to the G20 security lockdown.

News in brief

FLOODING Heavy rains shut down a number of roads and a busy subway station last night in downtown Toronto. Sections of Lake Shore Boulevard, much of Bayview Avenue and several other low-level streets were flooded, Toronto police said. Union Station was closed due to flooding and passengers had to use St. Andrew or King stations instead. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Police raid wakens couple at 4 a.m.

WRONG ADDRESS A Toronto veterinarian says he awoke around 4 a.m. Saturday to the sight of a gun pointed at him by a black-clad police officer standing at the foot of his bed.

Then, says John Booth, he was told to keep his hands visible and to produce identification, asked questions about a man named Peter he had never met, detained on his lawn in handcuffs for half an hour, and informed he would be charged with the crime of conspiracy to commit mischief — before being released by apologetic officers who belatedly realized he had no connection with the alleged anarchist organizer they were seeking.

"There was a gun in my face. I'll never forget that," said Booth, 30, of an incident he and his wife described as exasperating, traumatic, and at moments terrifying.

The officers, Booth said, were apparently unaware that his three-storey High Park-area house is split into two apartments. Booth, a vet at the Richview Animal Hospital, lives in the upper apartment with his wife and their son. Organizers with the Toronto Community Mobilization Network, which assisted G20 protest groups, live in the lower apartment.

The TCMN organizers were hosting several other activists. Peter Hopperton, described by police as a leader with the Southern Ontario Anarchist Resistance and by TCMN as "an organizer of G20 Childcare as well as other community projects," was one of them.

Hopperton was arrested Saturday morning and brought onto the lawn with Booth. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

COURT Dozens of people made the trek to a Toronto courthouse yesterday to bail out friends and family members arrested in the aftermath of the G20 riot.

Police arrested more than 600 people, many of whom will pass through the special court set up to handle G20 summit arrests over the next few days. Five courtrooms were designated to hear the cases in the Ontario Court building in the city's northwest outskirts.

Some of the most common charges were assault police officer, mischief and participating in an unlawful assembly.

Many of the accused were released with the condition they stay out of the downtown core, keep the peace and not participate in any violent demonstrations until a court appointment date. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Was it worth it?

As summits wrap up, Canadians left to take stock of progress made, damage done

G20 Summit

As Canadians contemplate the trashed core of Toronto like teenagers after a house-wrecker, the question on everyone's lips is the same: Was it worth it?

With a total tab of at least $1.24 billion for the G8 in Huntsville and the larger G20 in Toronto, the summits were possibly the most expensive three days of meetings ever held. In Huntsville, the G8 left the cottage district dotted with bright new infrastructure projects. In Toronto, the G20 paralysed the country's financial hub and attracted violent protesters who left shards of destruction in their wake.

The assembled world leaders agreed to a multi-billion-dollar maternal health initiative, clearer accountability measures, and a "growth first" economic strategy that straddles competing demands for continued stimulus spending and deficit reductions.

"It's a bit perplexing ... to try and figure out what people were thinking when they set it up in this way, in the neighbourhoods they did."

Glen Murray, Toronto Centre MPP

So was it all worth it? Glen Murray, the recently elected Liberal MPP for Toronto Centre, said there are two separate aspects to the question.

"I think probably most Canadians would say as a major and important power in the world, yes, that's a role that Canada ought to play," Murray said yesterday.

Three-quarters of respondents to a pre-summit poll said summits are either very or somewhat important, yet that same survey found two in three believe they are not worth the cost.

Which brings Murray to his second point. "It's a bit perplexing, watching from the sidelines, to try and figure out what people were thinking when they set it up this way, in the neighbourhoods they did, with the incredible complexity that came with the choice of facilities and arrangements," he said, adding it created "an incredible amount of strife" in the community.

The massive police presence and kilometres of concrete and wire fencing in Toronto's financial district couldn't provide a richer symbolic target for anarchist protesters. Even those who rejected violence acknowledged the wall helps support their messages of poverty reduction, environmentalism and corporate responsibility.

"As a foil, it serves that purpose. Hopefully, there's a lot of voices that really get heard," said Bob Holmes, a Catholic priest who was taking part in a peaceful march yesterday.

What else can $1.1B buy, anyway?

FINANCE What else might the people of southern Ontario have acquired for the $1.1 billion spent on the G8 and G20 summits? A partial list:

- Five new Boeing 787-9 Dreamliner passenger jets — the deluxe version with a range of nearly 16,000 kilometres.

- A down payment on a NASA space shuttle, based on the $1.7-billion cost of Endeavour, which had her maiden voyage in 1992.
- Just about all of the approximately 600 Stradivarius violins and cellos now in existence, calculated according to an average price per instrument of $2.15 million.

- Another year in Afghanistan based on the estimated $11.3-billion cost of Canada's war effort in that country from 2001 to 2011.

Oilpatch tax incentives untouched at summit

G20 Prime Minister Stephen Harper rejected advice from his officials to eliminate tax incentives for the oilpatch on a weekend that saw the world's most powerful leaders disdain fresh attempts to combat climate change in favour of fighting deepening deficits.

The G20 countries promised at their last meeting in Pittsburgh to examine where governments were subsidizing fossil fuel consumption and production and then move to eliminate those subsidies.

But the entire G20 opted to do little on fossil fuel subsidies and pay lip service to the issue of climate change that had seized centre stage of these summits for much of this decade up until last year's recession.

The Department of Finance recommended over the spring that Harper lead by example and get rid of tax incentives that encourage oil and gas production.

But documents obtained by The Canadian Press show the Canadian "action plan" on fossil fuels consists mainly of phasing out accelerated capital cost allowances for oilsands production — a measure that was first announced a few years ago and put on a faster track in the 2010 budget.

Deal made to cut deficits

Advanced G20 markets agree to slash debt in half by 2013

G20 Summit

G20 leaders capped a tumultuous summit weekend with a landmark deal to slash deficits and secure long-term economic stability.

Now they face the daunting task of doing that without hurting the fragile global recovery.

The world's most powerful leaders emerged from the G20 Summit with an agreement for advanced economies to cut their deficits in half by 2013 and stabilize their debt loads by 2016.

"The G20 still has a lot to do to fully entrench the global recovery, but these are important steps forward and, as you know, they are steps that Canada was seeking," said Prime Minister Stephen Harper, who spearheaded the deficit-fighting plan.

He told yesterday's closing news conference that he expects Canada will reach both targets next year.

Harper, along with like-minded allies, had to convince colleagues worried that the belt-tightening

'10 times less'

• Ottawa has come under heavy criticism for spending $1.24 billion on the summits. French President Nicolas Sarkozy didn't do Prime Minister will hurt global trade and undermine the recovery. To ease such concerns, the communiqué is full of words of caution, warning that cutting too deep or too fast could throw the world into turmoil once again.

Stephen Harper any favours, boasting Saturday that he will spend "10 times less" at next year's G8 summit in Nice, France.

To balance the advanced countries' austerity pact, emerging markets have agreed to pull their weight in the recovery efforts. In particular, they agreed to greater exchange rate flexibility and measures to strengthen their social safety nets.

Funnel clouds seen in southwestern Ontario: Meteorologist

was a full-fledged tornado or not," said Coulson.

Environment Canada started to get reports of large hail and some tree damage in parts of Essex County north of Leaming-

"At this point we're not aware that it was actually linked to a tornado," said Coulson. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Vancouver G20 protest turns ugly

BLACK BLOC While protests against the G20 summit in Toronto turned violent, a mostly peaceful gathering in Vancouver became ugly over the weekend when a group of demonstrators began kicking police officers and poking them with signs.

Const. Lindsey Houghton of the Vancouver Police Department said the aggressive protesters were dressed in black and masked their faces to prevent being identified.

"A core group of the black-clad protesters began to try to bait officers who were facilitating the protest by trying to damage police equipment, kicking the officers and taunting them," Houghton said Saturday in a statement.

He said the so-called Black Bloc tactic included protesters swearing and yelling at officers in an effort to provoke them.

In February, Black Bloc protesters smashed display windows of the downtown Bay store in Vancouver on the opening day of the Olympics.

Woman who left dog to die gets jail term

A 45-year-old Hamilton woman who left a tied-up dog to starve to death after she was evicted from her apartment has been sentenced to 30 days in jail and two years on probation. Theresa Fleycher is also banned from having pets for the next 20 years. THE CANADIAN PRESS

News in brief

EDMONTON Nearly a dozen families whose homes were affected by a deadly explosion in north Edmonton last Sunday say they are slowly trying to rebuild their lives. Many say they're still waiting for money from various fundraisers to help them move on. The powerful blast left four people dead and three of those deaths are being treated as homicides by police investigators. A number of fundraisers are being held to help families affected by the blast. On Friday, friends of Brad Winter and Craig Huber, two neighbours who were killed in the blast, held a fundraiser at a local restaurant, raising more than $15,000. On Saturday a fundraising barbecue was held at a grocery store near the site of the blast. OTTAWA Liquid oxygen was discovered leaking from a tanker truck on Sussex Drive in Ottawa near the Royal Canadian Mint yesterday. Acting Staff Sgt. Andrew Buchan said police and firefighters closed off a number of intersections as a precaution. He said the leak wasn't suspicious and was due to a mechanical failure on the tanker. Buchan said the mint's tours were suspended while the situation was resolved. Police said the tanker was several blocks away from the prime minister's residence.

While citizens pay, the taxman plays?

Some Canada Revenue Agency workers have been spending far too much time browsing the Internet and sending offensive emails — and not enough time collecting taxes.

Internal reports show an average of 85 employees a year are disciplined for wasting their work days surfing the web, setting up sports pools, sending chain letters, promoting "illegal substances," sharing offensive cartoons and running pyramid schemes.

"(One) employee browsed the Internet an average of three hours and 32 minutes per day," says one investigation report from last July, or about half the shift. "He installed four unauthorized software (programs) on his workstation."

Managers at the Canada Revenue Agency were lenient in their undisclosed discipline of the employee because of his "good performance" — even though it was a second offence, says the report.

A year earlier, the same worker had been caught browsing the Internet an average of two hours and 25 minutes each day.

Another employee — found to be web-surfing an average of 83 minutes a day

What are they doing with their time?

- Misuse of the Internet and email systems is by far the most common problem cited by the agency's internal affairs and fraud prevention division.
- Employees are permitted some personal use of the Internet under certain restrictions, one of which is that time on the web be limited to personal breaks and lunch time.
- A Canada Revenue Agency spokesman said officials are currently reviewing the policy "to determine the consequences if there were some modifications as to what might be acceptable."

— was also given lenient treatment in view of his "remorsefulness."

Last August, investigators recorded more than 84 hours of personal Internet cruising over 58 work days for one worker, or almost 90 minutes a day.

The reports also show hundreds of "unacceptable" emails in workers' accounts, though the precise content is never described.

These and other records outlining forbidden cyber-behaviour at the Canada Revenue Agency were obtained by The Canadian Press under the Access to Information Act. Information about disciplinary measures was censored in the documents, as were names and locations.

"The agency does not believe that the number of incidents... is any larger than it would be for other organizations of similar size with a similar approach on the use of their systems, nor would the agency consider the problem as chronic," said Canada Revenue Agency spokesman Noel Carisse, noting Revenue Canada has more than 40,000 employees.

Carisse said the activities do not place confidential taxpayer information at risk, and that the number of confirmed cases has been in decline, from 102 in 2004-2005 to 66 in 2008-2009. An internal report, however, shows 80 new cases were uncovered as of October in the last fiscal year.

The Canadian Press reported last week that agency employees have also been caught reading confidential tax files of ex-spouses, family members, creditors and others without authorization. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Queen Elizabeth II begins her Canadian visit this week.

Behaviour that's fit for a Queen

ETIQUETTE Ladies, no hats after 6:30 p.m. Gentlemen, loosen the grip on that handshake.

The Queen is in Canada this week and next, and there are a few things one should know to avoid making a royal faux pas.

A sampling: Don't ask the Queen personal questions and wait for her to strike up a conversation. Ditto for handshaking. Address her initially as "Your Majesty." Afterwards, ma'am's the word.

"They're not rules that you have to really be super concerned about," says Florence Sassine, chief of protocol for Nova Scotia, the first stop on a nine-day Canadian tour by Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

"They are guidelines for you to feel comfortable."

That may be so. But it hasn't stopped the media from salivating over public snafus and skewering offenders, particularly celebrities and politicians.

Former American president George W. Bush made international headlines in 2007 for a speech he gave during the Queen's visit to the U.S.

Bush stumbled over his words, nearly suggested the Queen was more than 200 years old and topped it off with a wink — reportedly prompting a brief but frosty glare from Her Majesty.

Sad goodbye for two latest casualties

MILITARY There was an emotional sendoff at Kandahar Airfield for two Canadian medics killed by an explosive device this weekend.

Operational requirements by the military resulted in a scaled down nighttime ceremony for Master Cpl. Kristal Giesebrecht and Pte. Andrew Miller, with only about 150 people allowed to attend.

Cpl. Kristal Giesebrecht

The two medics were part of a patrol southwest of Kandahar city on Saturday when their vehicle detonated an improvised explosive device. Their flag draped caskets were slowly carried aboard a military aircraft for the journey back to Canada.

Pte. Andrew Miller

Such moments are never easy for soldiers serving in Afghanistan but losing two individuals who provided medical aid in the field makes it more difficult.

Giesebrecht is the third Canadian woman to be killed in combat.

Oil spill efforts may dodge Alex's wrath

STORM A tropical depression slamming into parts of Mexico isn't taking aim at the massive Gulf oil spill — for now — though any system could quickly change course and send cleanup efforts grinding to a halt.

Any system with winds more than 74 km/h could force BP PLC to abandon efforts to contain the flow for up to two weeks and delay the drilling of two relief wells that are the best hope of stopping it, Coast Guard Admiral Thad Allen said Saturday.

Forecasters say Alex will cross over the Yucatan Peninsula back into the Gulf, where the warm waters could fuel it up to hurricane strength. It's projected to hit Mexico again south of Texas and miss the spill site.

News in brief

SEGREGATION Israel's Supreme Court has freed a group of ultra-Orthodox Jewish parents who were jailed for violating an order banning segregation in a West Bank girls' school. Parents of European, or Ashkenazi, descent at the school in the settlement of Emanuel don't want their daughters to study with girls of Mideast and North African origin, known as Sephardim. They claim the Sephardic families are not religious enough. A court spokeswoman said yesterday that under a compromise, the girls will study together until the end of the school year, which falls on Wednesday. Tens of thousands of ultra-Orthodox Jews turned out to protest when the parents were jailed June 17.

Pope slams Belgian church raids

Unprecedented even under communism: Vatican official

Pope Benedict XVI lashed out yesterday at what he called the "deplorable" raids carried out by Belgian police who detained bishops, confiscated computers, opened a crypt and took church documents as part of an investigation into priestly sex abuse.

Benedict said justice must take its course, but also asserted the right of the Catholic Church to investigate clerical abuse alongside law enforcement authorities.

On Saturday, the No. 2 Vatican official said the raids were unprecedented even under communism.

Belgium's justice minister defended the searches, saying the search warrant was legitimate.

In the raids, police searched the home and former office of former Archbishop Godfried Danneels, taking documents and his personal computer, just as the Youth repressed: UN

A UN report released yesterday cites political repression as one of the main forces preventing Egyptian youths, who make up a quarter of the population, from participating in the country's development.

The Egypt Human Development report came out during a wave of demonstrations over the alleged beating death by police of a 28-year-old man in the city of Alexandria. Many of the demonstrations have been violently dispersed by security forces.

The authors of the UN Development Program report singled out government corruption, nepotism, electoral fraud and the long-running state of emergency for discouraging young people from engaging in politics and society.

They also criticized restrictions on freedom of expression and demonstrations and interference in political activities of university students.

Floodwaters recede

Some return home in China after millions evacuated

Floodwaters began diminishing in hard-hit southern China yesterday and workers finished repairing a dike breach that forced the evacuation of 100,000 people.

Torrential rains pummeled a wide swath of China's south and more than three million people had to be evacuated from their homes over the past two weeks, according to the Ministry of Civil Affairs.

China sustains major flooding annually along the mighty Yangtze and other major waterways, $8B Floods have caused 53 billion yuan ($8 billion) in direct economic losses, said the Ministry of Civil Affairs.

but this year's floods have been especially devastating, killing 235 people while 109 remain missing, the ministry said.

Water had receded enough that some people returned to inspect their homes over the weekend, China Central Television said. Residents returned to find their mud-brick houses covered in sludge in areas that had been under two metres of water after a reservoir overflowed in Malong county of Yunnan province.

Workers using dump trucks and earth movers finished repairing a breach in the dike on the Fu River in Jiangxi province yesterday, according to CCTV. A second breach, 130 metres wide, was not immediately fixed in order to channel out water, the official Xinhua News Agency said.

N. Korea rejects idea of talks on ship sinking

CONFLICT North Korea said yesterday it has rejected a proposal by the American-led UN Command to hold military talks on the deadly sinking of a South Korean warship blamed on Pyongyang.

The UN Command, which oversees the armistice that ended the three-year Korean War in 1953, has launched an investigation of the sinking.

A separate team of international investigators concluded last month that North Korea torpedoed the warship Cheonan near the tense Korean sea border. North Korea denied the allegation and has warned any punishment would trigger war.

Details of the UN Command's probe have not been released.

North Korea said yesterday the results of the UN Command's probe would mimic the South Korean-led international investigation, which it said was "full of fabrication and plots."

Voters approve Kyrgyz constitution

Barely two weeks after ethnic purges left many minority Uzbek communities in smouldering ruin, about two-thirds of Kyrgyzstan's voters went to the polls yesterday to peacefully and overwhelmingly approve a new constitution they hoped would bring stability to the Central Asian nation.

Kyrgyzstan's interim government had pressed on with the vote even though many of the 400,000 ethnic Uzbeks forced to flee have yet to return to their homes and neighbourhoods. The result gave legitimacy to the provisional government backed by most Uzbeks, though some of those displaced by violence were unable to vote yesterday.

The vote — supported by the UN, the U.S. and Russia — is seen as an important step on the road to democracy for the interim government, which came to power after former President Kurmanbek Bakiyev was ousted in April following deadly street protests.

Interim President Roza Otunbayeva said she now would be inaugurated as a caretaker president and form her government. Its members will form a law-making assembly which will pass the necessary legislation until parliamentary elections in October.

"It will not be an interim but a legal and legitimate government," Otunbayeva said. "We are leaving the word interim behind."

Takin' it to the streets, T.O. style

InTransit

Ed Drass

The rest of Canada may not like it, but Toronto could become a bit more smug now that the G20 is over. As security fences are taken down and smashed windows are replaced, Torontonians can acknowledge our ability to stage huge events — and forget about them a few days later.

There was a period when we fretted over being a “world-class city.” Now, for better or worse, Toronto has achieved that status — and who really cares? We’re too busy preparing for the next big to-do.

In less than a week, the city will host its 30th Gay Pride celebration. In eight days, the Queen of England is expected to visit, as are hordes of Shriners from around the world. And the summer is going to roll on after that, with at least one major cultural event happening every weekend.

The list is impressive, and yet we’ve come to take our urban maturity for granted. This city has become so adept at handling crowds that if the Pride parade were to attract one million visitors July 4, people hanging out in the Annex or Little Italy would barely notice.

On July 6, one of our major thoroughfares will shut from Bloor to Front streets for the day. Queen’s Park Circle and University Avenue will be closed while the monarch visits the legislature and the Shriners put on a family-friendly parade.

Some drivers are bound to grumble, but a lot more people will be happy to see the Queen and the guys in tiny cars.

Motorists and transit riders are definitely affected by the growing number of street closures, but popularity rules. The city’s Angie Antoniou says approvals for major events have increased by a small percentage in the last five years, but “what we have noticed is the attendance itself has certainly increased dramatically.”

While Caribana and Taste of the Danforth may have reached capacity, newcomers like Nuit Blanche are growing just as huge. Give us an excuse to come out and we will.

It’s simply becoming very difficult to be bored in Toronto. Yes, the protests put us on the map, briefly, but it is the sheer concentration of music, art and festivals that signals our city has come of age.

Toronto-based transport writer Ed Drass covers transit issues every Monday; transit@eddrass.com.

Is this what democracy really looks like?

Peter McCartney

“This is what democracy looks like,” chanted peaceful protesters, including myself, advocating a plethora of social issues on our march from Queen’s Park in Toronto to Queen and Spadina during Saturday’s start of the G20 meetings.

Sure enough, the so-called Black Bloc soon materialized; a menacing homogenous group of militants with the intent of doing as much damage as possible to draw police away from the infamous “gate.”

They split from the main group once we arrived at a standoff with police and unleashed well-orchestrated mayhem upon corporate Toronto.

Meanwhile, Helter Skelter accompanied the tension as the main group of protesters had a unit of police surrounded around a smashed police cruiser.

Although police remained stoic and calm throughout, you could see a defined fear in their faces, followed by relief when another four units trickled in as backup.

After finally forcing the protesters back down Queen Street, riot police backed off at Peter Street, and as the main protest backtracked towards the financial district we discovered the anarchists’ work.

Nearly every Starbucks and bank we passed sported broken windows and spray-painted walls, with security staff watching us intensely from inside, like we were an exhibit at the zoo.

It’s an eerie feeling peering in to a destroyed Starbucks where mere hours before a smiling barista cheerfully handed you a coffee.

Police and protesters spent the next few hours in an intersection-by-intersection power struggle to the sound of taunting chants and the authoritative strike of batons on shields in unison.

All while the Black Bloc tore through Yonge Street, smashing nearly every corporate business as store owners watched in horror.

And when they were finished, a simple wardrobe change let them rejoin the crowd undetected, while Torontonians were left to pick up the pieces, wondering if this really was what democracy is supposed to look like.

Peter McCartney, a native Calgarian, is an intern with Metro Calgary and is heading into his second year at Carleton University’s journalism program.

U.S. awaits jobs report

Investor sentiment could find lift this week from a series of economic data, culminating at the end of the week with the U.S. jobs report for June.

Hopes are high that the report will show that the private sector is starting to ramp up hiring as the world's biggest economy struggles to emerge from recession.

"What we need to see is private sector job creation of over 100,000 to reduce the unemployment rate (of 9.7 per cent)," said BMO Capital Markets senior economist Sal Guatieri.

Investors were bitterly disappointed with the May job numbers, which showed private sector employment rose by 41,000.

This time around, economists are looking to see job creation in that segment come in at about 50,000, which would offset an overall reduction of 200,000 jobs in the U.S. as the government starts to lay off some of the thousands of tempo-

RIM looking for its 'wow' factor

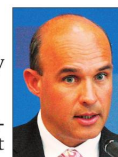

TECH BlackBerry maker Research In Motion needs some new "wow" devices to keep its North American consumer market share that's now being invaded by Android-powered smartphones, say analysts.

Analysts raised questions about RIM's relevance in the growing smartphone market after the company delivered disappointing quarterly sales results that bruised its shares on Friday.

"RIM simply has no 'Wow' devices in the market right now," PCMag analyst Sascha Segun said.

The Waterloo, Ont.-based company is expected to come out with a new touchscreen phone, as well as a new operating system and Internet browser.

But, RIM co-chief executive Jim Balsillie only teased analysts on a conference call Thursday. "I just wish I could wind the clock forward a few weeks ... I can't say much more, but I couldn't feel better," he said.

'The worst game we've played all year'

MLB RESULTS

Blue Jays 2 Phillies 11

With each passing start, Jamie Moyer seems to eclipse another milestone. All the 47-year-old left-hander wants to concentrate on, though, is helping Philadelphia win.

And, lately, he's been succeeding.

Moyer gave up his record-breaking 506th home run but was sharp otherwise, and the Phillies took advantage of Toronto's troubles to beat the Blue Jays 11-2 yesterday.

Moyer's only mistake was a two-run homer by Vernon Wells in the third inning. Moyer passed former Phillies Hall of Famer Robin Roberts for the most homers allowed in a career.

"I have the desire to be here, so getting caught up in all the things that come with it, I don't want to and won't allow myself to and don't want to get lost in where I am and that's playing with these guys in the room," Moyer said. "If you get caught up in it, you can really lose focus."

The Blue Jays made a season-high four errors, including a pair by second baseman Aaron Hill, that set up six unearned runs.

"You can't give them so many outs," Toronto manager Cito Gaston said.

Toronto Blue Jays catcher Jose Molina puts a late tag on the Philadelphia Phillies' Wilson Valdez in the second inning of yesterday's game in Philadelphia. Valdez scored on a double by Dane K. Sardinha.

Talk about age ...

• Phillies starter Jamie Moyer made his big league debut June 16, 1986, 16 days before yesterday's Toronto starter, Brett Cecil, was born.

"That's the worst game we've played all year. We certainly lost as a team. We all stunk up the place."

Jimmy Rollins, Shane Victorino and Ben Francisco each had three hits for the Phillies and Ryan Howard scored three runs. Philadelphia won for the eighth time in 11 games.

"The weather is getting hot, this is hitting season and we're starting to swing the bats better," said Philadelphia manager

Charlie Manuel, whose team has scored 75 runs in its last 11 games.

Moyer (9-6), gave up two runs and six hits in seven innings. He struck out seven and walked none.

Moyer earned his 267th career victory, moving within one win of tying Jim Palmer for 34th on the all-time list. Moyer has won four of his last five starts.

"His longevity is absolutely remarkable," Manuel said. "What impresses me is his command. He says if he puts the ball where he wants to go, he can get people out."

The Phillies took two of three from the Jays in a series that was moved to Philadelphia from Toronto because of the G20 summit.

Nadal's knee feeling 'good'

Rafael Nadal's bothersome right knee held up fine during a 40-minute practice at the All England Club yesterday.

Walking briskly while carrying his racket bag after his light workout, Nadal told The Associated Press that his knee felt "good, good; not bad."

Toni Nadal, Rafael's uncle and coach, was more expansive, saying, "The knee is so much better" than it was Saturday, when the 2008 Wimbledon champion received treatment from a trainer during changeovers while coming back to beat No. 33-seeded Philipp Petzschner of Germany 6-4, 4-6, 6-7 (5), 6-2, 6-3 in the third round.

That was Nadal's second consecutive five-set victory, the first time he has ever had two matches go the distance this early at a major tournament.

After yesterday's day off, Wimbledon resumes today with all 16 men's and women's fourth-round

"I hope and think he can play with no problem," Toni Nadal said. "We are nervous about the opponent, but not the knee at the moment."

Toni Nadal, Rafael's uncle/coach

His nephew's knees have been a long-standing issue.

Rafael Nadal skipped the grass-court Grand Slam tournament last year because of tendinitis in both knees, becoming only the fifth player in the history of an event first contested in 1877 to not defend his championship because of an injury.

He stopped playing during his Australian Open quarter-final against Andy Murray in January because of trouble with the right knee. And Nadal acknowledged Saturday he's been dealing with knee issues this spring.

Watson emerges from playoff as Travelers champ

PGA Bubba Watson won for the first time on the PGA Tour, coming from six shots down to win the Travelers Championship in a three-way playoff.

Watson sunk a three-foot par putt on the second playoff hole to beat Scott Verplank and Ryder Cup captain Corey Pavin after they all finished at 14-under par.

Justin Rose, who was coming off his first PGA Tour win earlier this month at the Memorial, had a three-stroke lead coming into yesterday.

But the 29-year-old Englishman was 1-over par on the front nine, and collapsed on the back, shooting a 5-over 75.

Graham DeLaet of Weyburn, Sask., wound up at even par for the tournament in a tie for 68th.

Controversial calls abound

ERRORS? Disputed plays have always played a big role at the World Cup. Frank Lampard's no-goal yesterday in England's 4-1 loss to Germany is the latest, and will spark calls for FIFA to institute instant replay to help determine goals.

A look at that play and some of the others that have sparked controversy in South Africa.

• United States 1 Algeria 0: In the final group game, Clint Dempsey scored in the 21st minute off the rebound of Herculez Gomez's shot. But the goal was called offside. Replays indicated Dempsey was in a fair position.

• Mexico 2 France 0: In a first-round Group A match, Javier Hernandez appeared to be offside when he ran onto Rafael Marquez's pass and went around goalkeeper Hugo Lloris to give Mexico a 1-0 lead in the 64th minute.

• Brazil 3 Ivory Coast 1: Brazil striker Luis Fabiano handled the ball twice as he juggled it past two Ivory Coast defenders before scoring for a 2-0 lead in a 3-1 group win that secured advancement for the Brazilians.

• Slovakia 3 Italy 2: Fabio Quagliarella thought he scored a late equalizer for Italy but he was ruled offside by the smallest of margins, a ruling that was disputed by the Italians and appeared to be an error on replays. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ROUND OF 16 RESULT

Germany 4 England 1

Germany's latest World Cup victory over England will be remembered not for any of the brilliant goals, but for the one that didn't count.

Ask anyone — players, coaches, thousands of fans in the stadium and millions more watching on television — and there's little question that Frank Lampard put a shot in the net late in the first half that would have tied the score.

many used two second-half goals by Thomas Mueller for a 4-1 victory Sunday. The Germans are headed to the quarter-finals.

The English are shaking their heads in disbelief. "It's incredible," England coach Fabio Capello said. "We played with five referees and they can't decide if it's a goal or no goal. The game was different after this goal. It was the mistake of the linesman and I think the referee because from the bench I saw the ball go (in)."

Germany coach Joachim Loew couldn't argue that point.

"What I saw on the television, this ball was behind the line," Loew said. "It must have been given as goal."

It wasn't. "The goal was very important," Capello said. "We could have played a different style."

"We made some mistakes when they played the counterattack. The referee made bigger mistakes." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Brazil and Chile well acquainted

ROUND OF 16 PREVIEW

Brazil vs. Chile

Brazil and Chile won't have a lot of surprises when they play in the second round of the World Cup today.

The two South American countries have met dozens of times in recent years and already know what to expect from each other at Ellis Park Stadium.

Brazil has dominated the rivalry and arrives heavily favoured to advance, but this time the five-time champions will be facing a Chile team eager to show it can get past the round of 16 for the first time since its home tournament in 1962.

"We will have to play with intelligence," Brazil midfielder Gilberto Silva said yesterday. "We can't go after the win at all costs. We will need to be careful with their counterattacking, they know how to play and will try to attack too."

The Brazilians know better not to take their opponents for granted.

"Now we get to the stage where the 90 minutes will be decisive, mistakes are not allowed or you will be going home," Brazil coach Dunga said. "Chile has been improving, it has a team with good players and will fight very hard to keep advancing."

Brazil hasn't lost to Chile in 10 years, since a 3-0 result in a 2000 qualifier for the 2002 World Cup. It has won the past seven, outscoring Chile 26-3. In 10 matches this decade, Brazil won eight, drew one and lost only the qualifier in 2000.

Striker Robinho scored six goals in Brazil's last five matches against the Chileans.

"I've always been lucky against Chile," Robinho said. "I don't do anything different, but for some reason I end up scoring goals. I hope that's what happens again so I can help Brazil win." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don't cry for Argentina

Maradona's squad advances, with help from questionable call

ROUND OF 16 RESULTArgentina 3 Mexico 1

Carlos Tevez scored two goals and Gonzalo Higuain added another yesterday to give Argentina a 3-1 win over Mexico and a spot in the World Cup quarter-finals.

For the second consecutive match, though, there was controversy over a refereeing blunder.

Tevez was clearly offside when he headed in a chipped pass from Lionel Messi in the 26th minute at Soccer City. The referee awarded the goal after a lengthy consultation with his linesman as the pair was surrounded by angry players from both teams.

In the 33rd, Higuain rounded the goalkeeper to make it 2-0 after Ricardo Osorio, under no pressure, played the ball straight into his path. In the 52nd, Tevez scored one of the best goals of the tournament, running away from two defenders and sending in a powerful shot.

"An important step," Tevez said. "We're in the quarter-finals and that's what matters."

Diego Maradona described the match as "tense" and accused the Mexicans of targeting Lionel Messi with overly-aggressive tackles — but said his players had deserved to advance.

"I want to congratulate them," he said. "Argentina was superior over 90 minutes. My players kept the ball well and passed it well."

Argentina will now face Germany in a rematch of the 1986 and 1990 World Cup finals. Germany also knocked the South Americans out in the quarter-finals in 2006.

"We have to rest and be ready for that game," Tevez said.

After three convincing wins in the group stage, Argentina was favoured going into yesterday's match, but Messi struggled to find space and Mexico came close to opening the scoring when Carlos Salcido hit the crossbar with a hard shot in the eighth minute.

Shortly after,

Mexico teammate Andres Guardado burst through on a counterattack but his shot flew wide of the left post.

"The first couple of minutes were really difficult for us. We were not able to run the match," Tevez said. "That made life hard for us. After that, it only got better."

After the opening goal, the Argentines slowly took control of the game.

Tevez was proving a handful with his lively running, and Higuain — the leading scorer at the World Cup with four goals — should have added another but headed wide from point-blank range just before halftime.

As the players headed toward the tunnel, there were angry scenes as Mexican players had to be pulled away from Maradona and the match officials, furious at the circumstances surrounding the opening goal. Earlier yesterday, Germany beat England 4-1 but that game was also mired in controversy after the referee ruled out a clear goal from England midfielder Frank Lampard with the score at 2-1.

Suarez and Gyan early standouts

STARS Diego Maradona, Salvatore Schillaci, Zinedine Zidane. At almost every World Cup, there's one man whose burst of outstanding play captivates the globe.

At this year's competition in South Africa, the early candidates are Luis Suarez of Uruguay and Asamoah Gyan of Ghana. Both have led their teams to the quarter-finals and could be the ones to push their teammates all the way.

Uruguay had not been to the last eight of the World Cup since 1970 but Suarez took them there with his third goal of the tournament for a 2-1 win over South Korea.

"Fortunately, Suarez was able to score that spectacular winning goal," coach Oscar Tabarez said.

It is what makes the World Cup so special. Within a month, players can burst from the fringes of popular consciousness to centre stage.

Almost no one outside Italy knew of Schillaci before the 1990 World Cup but the reserve striker ended up leading scorer with six goals, dragging the host nation to one penalty shootout from reaching the final in Rome.

This year, the race for the defining figure in a World Cup full of surprises is still wide open. Ajax's Suarez already has three goals and it will be tough to see a more thrilling one than his decider against South Korea.

He sidestepped two defenders in the driving rain and struck a right-foot shot from the edge of the area that curled just enough to beat the goalkeeper.

"Being young, I always dream of these types of moments," the 23-year-old forward said. "These moments we're experiencing are once in a lifetime."

It was the same for Gyan. He got the injury-time winner in a 2-1 victory over the United States, when he took a long ball from Andre Ayew over the defence, stayed upright despite a challenge and shot from 16 yards to send his country to the quarter-finals for the first time.

U.S. team scatters after Cup dream dies out

DEFEATED They started scattering yesterday to the United States and Europe, never to come together as a group again.

All the optimism had vanished — four years of planning and effort foiled by a debilitating defence, faltering forwards and, in the ultimate insult to their pride, a sudden realization the most talented soccer team in American history wasn't good enough to consistently compete with the world's best.

"There's a pretty empty feeling right now because I think coming out of the first round, we felt that there was a real chance of doing something bigger," U.S. coach Bob Bradley said the day after a 2-1 overtime loss to Ghana eliminated the Americans in the World Cup's second round.

While the roosters crowed at Irene Farm and people streamed in for brunch, it was the last day for the American soccer team in South Africa, where players arrived May 31 filled with optimism and enthusiasm.

They're leaving dismayed.

Some headed out Sunday, most planned to depart Monday.

Looking forward

• There are numerous candidates to weave into the player pool, including Gale Agbassoumonde (18), Eric Lichaj (21), Omar Gonzalez (21), Ike Opara (21), Kevin Alston (22) and Tim Ream (22).

Many of these players will never see a World Cup again.

What went wrong? Pretty simple to discern.

"For the four games, we were only ahead for two minutes," Bradley said (actually, it was three). "The one side is just the maturity, the experience of knowing sometimes early in the game how to manage the game." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sports in brief

KOBE On his first trip to Africa, Los Angeles Lakers star Kobe Bryant looked very much at home yesterday — bantering with teen athletes in Soweto, using his trilingual skills with the World Cup press corps, and displaying a keen knowledge of international soccer. Bryant grew up playing soccer as a boy in Italy and has never lost his affection for the game.

Get in on the action at Horseshoe

EVA LAM
for Metro Toronto

From zipping and rolling, to sliding and climbing, the new Adventure Park at Horseshoe Resort is giving visitors the opportunity to experience all kinds of action this summer.

The park is part of a $4.25 million investment that Horseshoe, located just north of Barrie, is putting toward resort enhancements over the next two years. Thrill-seekers and families alike can take part in a unique range of attractions, some of which are being introduced in Ontario or Canada for the first time.

"It's a different kind of fun," says Christine Jamieson of Skyline Boutique Hotels and Resorts, which owns Horseshoe.

One of the park's adrenaline-boosting attractions is the Zip Flyer, which at 2,050 feet is southern Ontario's longest zipline. Harness riders are propelled through the air, high above the Horseshoe grounds, at speeds of up to 45 km/h.

Those seeking a more grounded experience can check out the first fully operational zorb park in Canada. Zorbing is an activity in which participants get into a zorb ball — an orb of transparent plastic about three metres in diameter, cushioned by a layer of air — and then, simply, start to roll. The adventure park features two types of zorbs: The harness zorb and the aqua zorb.

For putting enthusiasts, the park also offers ridgetop mini golf. The four-tiered course is built into the front of the tubing hill, adjacent to the Inn at Horseshoe and overlooking the Copeland Forest.

Other attractions at the park include a 32-foot climbing wall, a skate park, downhill mountain biking and summer tubing, a spin-off of Horseshoe's popular winter-time activity.

The park will have its grand opening on July 1.

P.S. Kensington, we love you

KEITH CARMEN
for Metro Toronto

"This has become a real attraction," beams Alex Bowron, volunteer for Pedestrian Sundays (P.S.) Kensington, a monthly summer event where Kensington Market's main streets are sealed off, allowing foot traffic, vendors, creative sorts and cyclists to overtake the community in a casual setting.

"People come from far and wide to be in an area that's car-free for a day," Bowron says. "Kids can play on the street, musicians come out, artists show their work, restaurants get to extend themselves a bit ... it's a great chance for the community to show what it's made of."

Taking place from noon to 7 p.m. on the last Sunday of every month, P.S. Kensington runs to October.

ration, creativity and commerce.

"I really appreciate the effort being made on the part of the organization to help support this vibrant, existing community and showcase what is special and unique about it: The diversity of the businesses and individuals that comprise it," Bowron says before stressing the incredible ecological aspect that a day of carbon-negative traffic inspires and supports.

From increased air quality and safety to dampened noise pollution, toxins and fossil fuel consumption, P.S. Kensington endeavours to influence positive environmental change within Toronto.

It's a sentiment increasingly echoed as this year finds the concept expanding to include Mirvish Village to the North and Baldwin Village to the East.

An uncertain future for cities

Sustainability study shows quality of life at risk of declining

BEN KNIGHT
for Metro Canada

Canadians living in big cities enjoy a high quality of life, but a new report suggests that may change if key sustainability issues are not quickly and effectively addressed.

The Sustainable Cities Challenge in Canada — conducted by GlobeScan and commissioned by Siemens Canada and the David Suzuki Foundation — polled experts across the nation on what the problems are, and how they should be rectified.

Here are some of the key findings:

TRANSPORTATION

What's the problem?

The report says decision making is fragmented, and projects can be deferred — or even dropped — during election years.

What's the solution?

"We see that there are bigger cities lacking good rail-based solutions, for example, between airports and city centres," says Roland Aurich, president and CEO of Siemens Canada Ltd.

"We have a long debate in Canada about high-speed rail. There is not yet a decision in that area, and we also see a lot of discussion about whether you should rely on bus lines or install light-rail traffic solutions. Again, the decision power is not in place. We do understand that these decisions need to be carefully based, but we also need to create a process where we do now take decisions needed for the future."

WATER QUALITY

What's the problem?

Infrastructure is old and crumbling, a problem that will only worsen if comprehensive rebuilding and expansion not undertaken.

What's the solution?

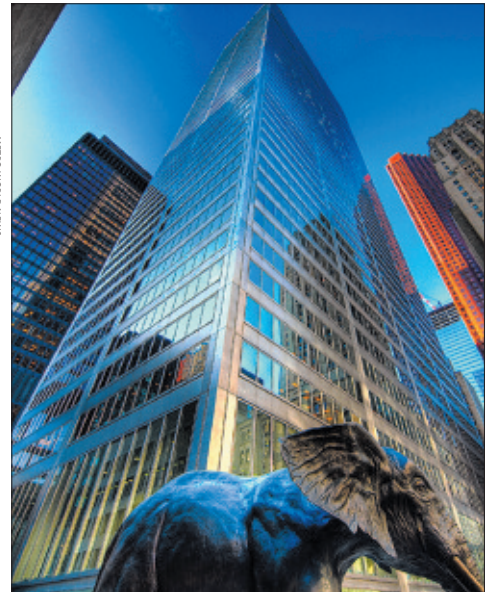

"First of all, we need to make sure we invest in our aging infrastructure," Aurich notes.

"In some cases, we see that the clear water which is produced doesn't come to the consumer. A portion gets lost in leakage.

The survey says...

• Experts in Ontario see water as the most important sustainability issues facing Canadian cities. Particular concern was expressed over the age of the province's water mains. Housing topped poverty and immigration as the key social concern. The ongoing availability of jobs emerged as the major economic issue across Ontario. The province's biggest infrastructure concern is funding, due to significant budget deficits. Toronto is also planning large new projects to address its public transit concerns.

The second issue is to make sure that we also maintain and create capacity and quality — in a demanding way, and in an efficient way."

Urban sprawl is at the root of sustainability problems.

URBAN SPRAWL

What's the problem?

Cities expand to cover huge amounts of new land, but land-use and infrastructure concerns are not always properly addressed.

What's the solution?

"Our theory — and we see this happening more and more in practice — is that you have an environmental view of sustainable solutions, you install transportation systems, you have a good social security system in the city, people enjoy that life," says Aurich.

"That brings effectiveness to the area, avoiding the negative effects of sprawl, and better defining where new lands should be allocated."

Tips for the job hunter

If the word "networking" makes you want to curl into a ball, Diane Darling, author of The Networking Survival Guide — now in its second edition — says it doesn't need to be that way. Here are some tips everyone can implement immediately:

Start from a position of strength

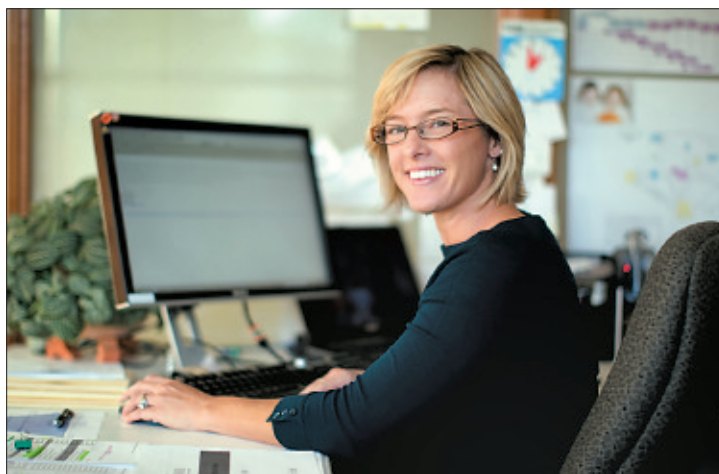

Too often people go out and try to randomly meet a bunch of new people. This is exhausting for many (especially for introverts) and often unproductive. Begin with your fan club. Who has helped you before, and vice versa?

Practice "hybrid networking"

It's most effective when you combine social networking and traditional networking

(attending

When you're looking for a job or aiming for a promotion, be aware that your profiles on social-networking sites will be perused.

events, having a coffee, etc.). Like a hybrid car, there isn't a moment when the engine shuts off and restarts. If you don't like events, serve on a board and meet people that way. Networking is not a "one size fits all."

You never know

The "kid" in jeans may be a millionaire, and the person in the business suit may be broke. It's unlikely your first impression of someone is always right. Be open-minded.

What goes online, stays online

This can be good or bad. If you're frustrated, don't say it online unless you're willing to have your grandmother or your kids read what you write.

Social-networking sites are researched before promotions are given or vendors are hired.

Be wise and be happy Follow up

Most of your networking time and energy should be focused on following up with people. Even if they aren't spending money with you, they may be great referral sources or ambassadors.

METRO WORLD NEWS

Learning doesn't stop just because school is out

EDUCATION It's summertime, and as the saying goes, the living's easy. But, according to Dr. Nick Whitehead, founder and CEO of Oxford Learning, the living might be too easy — especially where students' brains are concerned.

"While it's important for students to take a break and enjoy their summer, it's more important that students continue to keep their brains challenged all summer long," he says. "The brain continues to see connections, grow, and process information even during the summer."

The brain functions much like muscles in the body: When not used properly, it begins to deteriorate.

"Without continual exercise over the summer, students' brains can lose learning momentum, which can lead to trouble in the fall," says Dr. Whitehead. "The summer should give kids a breather, not cause them to become mentally passive."

Volunteering can be beneficial on the road towards college and university

For many young Canadians, summer vacation means rest, relaxation and a break from the normal routine. Having some free time is also an opportunity to take on a new challenge. Volunteering gives young people the chance to gain some real-life experience that can be beneficial down the road in the job market, and if they continue on to college or university.

"Many young Canadians are interested in volunteering or taking a more active role in their community, but don't know where to start," says Rick Ashbee, national executive director of the Duke of Edinburgh's Award.

The Duke of Edinburgh's Award offers young people a balanced, non-competitive program of voluntary activities that encourages personal discovery and growth, self-reliance, perseverance, responsibility to themselves and service to their community. The program is open to all young Canadians between the ages of 14 and 25, regardless of circumstances or abilities.

"Participating in the award is unique since it gives participants the flexibility to choose volunteer activities that best suit their interests and abilities," adds Ashbee. "And, the criteria for achieving the bronze, silver and gold levels are based upon individual effort and personal improvement."

Young people earn the award by achieving goals in four areas: Community service, skill development, physical recreation and an adventurous journey. To help increase the accessibility of the program, the TD Waterhouse Investing in Youth initiative provides funding for local field officers who introduce the award to communities and provide support to participants. Two of the specific areas of focus for Investing in Youth is encouraging inner-city youth and youth with disabilities to take part in the program.

More information on how to get involved in the award or the Investing in Youth initiative can be found online at dukeofed.org. NEWS CANADA

Jeanie Falcon works at her desk as her dog, Zola, lays nearby. Last Friday was the 12th annual Take Your Dog to Work Day.

Dog days at the office

Bob Page welcomed more than 50 dogs, two ferrets and the odd duck into his china shop last Friday. Lucky for him, his employees don't own bulls.

Friday was Take Your Dog to Work Day, a campaign sponsored by Pet Sitters International to promote pet adoption. The group doesn't track how many workplaces participate, but said in the months leading up to it last year nearly 100,000 people visited takeyourdog.com.

Page's company, Replacements, Ltd., is the world's largest retailer of old and new china, crystal, silver and collectibles. And while the four-legged turnout will be bigger on Friday, it won't be that much different than any other day because employees at his plant are encouraged to bring pets every day.

The invitation on Page's company's front door

"When you walk through here, people are smiling."

Jeanie Falcon

reads: "Well-Behaved Pets Welcome."

"When you walk through here, people are smiling," explained Jeanie Falcon, vice-president of human resources.

The American Pet Products Manufacturers Association says about one in five U.S. companies allow pets in the workplace. Many of the companies are smaller, but a few of the larger ones are Google and Amazon.

Sophie, a five-year-old bulldog, not only goes to work every day with her owner, Rev. G.T. Schramm, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, but she has a job and a title too.

As "special pastoral assistant," her job is to greet and to listen. "She has an uncanny way of knowing when somebody comes in here upset or out of sorts," Schramm said.

At Bare Necessities each dog owner made a donation and the company matched the money and sent it to a local shelter, said employee Kiera Lim. Lim and her husband, who also works for the company, brought their boxers, Pixie, 2, and Jax, 3.

"It's a day to blend your home life and your work life," Lim said. "If your pets are important to you, your co-workers have probably heard all about them. This is their chance to meet them."

Fans remember King of Pop

Michael Jackson fans the world over paused to remember the man they called the King of Pop with songs, dances and prayers on the first anniversary of his death, a day Jackson's father marked by filing a wrongful-death lawsuit against the doctor charged with giving his son a lethal dose of sedatives.

In Japan, hundreds of people lighted candles in Jackson's memory. In the Los Angeles suburb of Glendale, thousands filed silently through the gates of Forest Lawn Cemetery, where Jackson's body is entombed in the mausoleum. Some of them released white doves while others wept softly.

"He's been my idol all my life since I can remember. I feel like I haven't had closure," said Erick Dominguez, who travelled more than 100 kilometres to pay respects. As he spoke, the 37-year-old sales representative, his eyes hidden by sunglasses, began to weep.

Fans of the late pop star Michael Jackson pose with his star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame in Los Angeles over the weekend.

Several of Jackson's relatives visited the mausoleum, which was off limits to the public. Brother Tito shook hands with fans as he arrived, and brother Jermaine rolled down a window and waved as the family left in a fleet of luxury vehicles.

In Jackson's hometown of Gary, Ind., Jackson's mother, Katherine, unveiled a monument in the front yard of the modest home where her children grew up.

"This past year has been very hard on the family," she said. "If it wasn't for the help of all of you, we wouldn't have made it through."

Jackson died June 25, 2009, at age 50, just before he was to begin a comeback tour. Dr. Conrad Murray has pleaded not guilty to felony involuntary manslaughter in his death. Authorities say Murray provided the entertainer with a mix of sedatives — including the powerful anesthetic propofol — that killed him.

As Jackson fans everywhere grieved, the entertainer's father, Joe Jackson, filed suit against Murray in federal court in Los Angeles.

The complaint, which seeks more than $75,000, accuses Murray of professional negligence and contends the physician tried to conceal his administration of propofol after Jackson's death. Propofol is normally administered only in hospital settings. Murray had been providing it to help him sleep after the physically grueling rehearsals for his comeback. Murray attorney Charles Peckham said in a statement he expected his client's innocence to be "proven in a court of law."

Jackson's father is also fighting with his son's estate, seeking more than $15,000 a month. As Jackson's father went to court in Los Angeles, tributes to his son unfolded around the world.

One of the more raucous ones took place at Jackson's star in front of Grauman's Chinese Theatre on the Hollywood Walk of Fame.

Fans blasted his music and danced energetically to the delight of tourists and passers-by on the crowded sidewalk. Many of the dancers were dressed as the King of Pop himself, wearing sequined gloves, black shirts and pants, white socks, black loafers and snappy looking Fedoras.

Farrah foundation keeps cancer battle alive

PEOPLE Farrah Fawcett's closest friends marked the first anniversary of her death by dedicating a cancer-research foundation in her name.

Alana Stewart, Ryan O'Neal, Tatum O'Neal and Redmond O'Neal were among guests at an intimate gathering Friday at the new offices of the Farrah Fawcett Foundation, which funds alternative cancer research and treatment methods and aims to improve the quality of life of those with the disease.

Fawcett, the Charlie's Angels star who detailed her battle with anal cancer in the 2009 documentary, Farrah's Story, died at 62 on June 25, 2009.

Stewart said Fawcett started her namesake foundation during her own struggle with cancer, and Stewart was determined to keep her friend's efforts alive.

"If I can help carry on Farrah's mission for the foundation, it's an honour for me," Stewart said. "I feel almost like she's a guardian angel watching over me, and I feel like she's smiling down on us and very happy that she died for a cause."

"She felt that she could help a lot of people and she could give a lot of people inspiration, courage and hope," Stewart continued. "That's why she did the documentary and that's why she started the foundation."

Ryan O'Neal said the first anniversary of Fawcett's death had been an emotional one for his family. Their 25-year-old son, Redmond, who has been dogged by drug problems and was jailed during his mother's final days, visited Fawcett's grave for the first time Friday.

Twi-hards take over L.A.

Hundreds of fans camp out for Eclipse premiere

Monica Siegel and her two friends dropped a total of $2,500 and flew hundreds of kilometres to camp out for four days on a gritty patch of sidewalk in downtown Los Angeles. On Thursday, it was all worth it.

Siegel, 22, nabbed a spot near the red carpet to see — and swoon over — the heartthrob stars of The Twilight Saga: Eclipse as they arrived at the premiere of the latest instalment in the blockbuster vampire series.

"It's been a big part of my life. I start caring about the characters a lot, and when they make the movies, you start caring about the actors that portray the characters," she said after frantically colouring a fan poster. "The love story is what drew me in."

Siegel, a college sophomore, spent more than

From left, Robert Pattinson, Kristen Stewart and Taylor Lautner arrive at the premiere of Eclipse on Thursday in Los Angeles.

$1,000 on airfare, camping equipment and a motel to make it to California with her two friends, whom she met through a Twilight Facebook page. The motel, at $60 a night, was for showers only: Siegel and her pals have been sleeping and living in their brand-new tent since Sunday.

"I've never gone camping in my life," Siegel said.

"We're paying for a hotel room we can't sleep in — but we can shower!"

Siegel, 21-year-old Amanda Willis, and 25-year-old Melissa Moorhead are just three among thousands of so-called Twi-hards who have clogged the downtown premiere venue since early this week, camping out in a specially-designated tent city for a fleeting glimpse of stars such as Robert Pattinson, Kristen Stewart and Taylor Lautner.

Up to 9,000 people were issued wristbands for a chance to see the film. At least 550 early birds, like Siegel, were ensured a spot along the red carpet, which was black for the occasion.

Celebrities working their way down the carpet before the premiere were swarmed with screaming, frantic fans. Dakota Fanning, who plays the vampire Jane, said she was amazed by the fan presence — even in comparison with what she has seen in her own childhood acting career.

"It's really exciting. I don't think I'll ever be part of something like this for the rest of my life," she said. "It's really kind of surreal."

The originals strike back

Amidst slew of sequels, new ideas ready to make mark

It's summertime at the movies, the season of getting-to-know-you-all-over-again as audiences reacquaint themselves with old screen pals such as Woody and Buzz Lightyear, Iron Man, Shrek and that Karate Kid.

Yet new ideas occasionally pop up even in Hollywood, the place that thrives on sequels, remakes, spin-offs and adaptations based on best-selling novels, TV shows, comic books or toys.

Among this summer's handful of original stories are Tom Cruise's Knight and Day, Angelina Jolie's Salt and Leonardo DiCaprio's Inception, from The Dark Knight director Christopher Nolan.

With old standbys such as Sex and the City 2, Robin Hood and The A-Team falling short of box-office expectations, fresh concepts play a bigger role in determining the success of Hollywood's summer.

Inception in particular has the industry and fans captivated, coming from a filmmaker with a track record for blockbuster entertainment that's also bold and smart.

Starring DiCaprio as a man using technology to sneak into people's dreams and steal their ideas, Inception arrives in theatres July 17 with the best buzz for an original story since James Cameron's Avatar last December.

At $2.7 billion worldwide, Avatar leads the box-office charts, hurtling past Harry Potter, Spider-Man and other franchise adaptations. "I would like to say we were very encouraged by the success of Avatar," Nolan said with a big laugh.

For many fans, Avatar was as groundbreaking a movie experience as one of the prime cinema adventures of Nolan's boyhood, Star Wars.

"Ever since I saw that film, whether I knew it or not, my ambition has been to give the audience that kind of experience," Nolan continued. "To create a world that they hadn't expected before and hadn't seen before and let them lose themselves in it."

So why does Hollywood keep coming back to the same old things? Simple. It pays better.

Most of the movies that draw colossal audiences are based on something that existed before. Familiarity sometimes can breed contempt as audiences tire of characters, but it's generally easier to get fans to buy tickets for the latest in a continuing saga.

"It really is up to the audience and critics. A lot of people jump on Hollywood for that, but the truth is, if they'll come, we'll make them," said producer Lorenzo di Bonaventura, whose credits include Transformers flicks and Jolie's upcoming spy thriller Salt.

Superman to take a tour of America

COMICS The Man of Steel will hoof it across America to reconnect with everyday people in a story that will feature actual cities, towns and neighbourhoods submitted by readers.

Superman, one of DC Comics' flagship fictional heroes, begins his journey next month in Philadelphia, where he'll embark on a 12-issue, cross-country walk — no flying, thank you — through Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, California, Oregon and Washington.

Dan DiDio, DC's co-publisher, told The Associated Press Wednesday that the Krypton-born, Kansas-bred hero had lost touch "with the people he grew up with, his adopted home on Earth" and he'll "take a walk across America to reconnect."

DiDio said DC is "looking to hear what people have to say, how the character affected their lives" and, he added, "more importantly, what the character means to them."

From child to adult star

Singer Cyrus is on her way to duplicating success with third album

It's not always easy for child stars to continue their career into adulthood, or even puberty. For every Justin Timberlake, there's a Debbie Gibson.

That's why Miley Cyrus was so excited when her songs, The Climb and Party in the U.S.A., became bona fide hits on the pop charts last year. The Climb hit No. 4 on Billboard's Hot 100 chart while Party in the U.S.A.

stopped just short of becoming the No. 1 song in the nation.

While she has sold millions of records as an extension of her omnipresent Disney persona, Hannah Montana, those songs represented her biggest success to date as Miley — and she connected with more than just the tween audience.

"The Climb is the best thing that's ever happened to me," Miley said in a recent interview. "It went on ... every different kind of radio. I met everyone. I met 3-year-olds, I met 30-year-olds, I met 80-year-olds. ... I got so many different fans."

The 17-year-old phenomenon is on her way to duplicating that success with her new album, Can't Be Tamed. The album's title track has already hit No. 8 on the charts.

But Miley is making more than a musical statement with the record. With songs like the title track and Robot, she's sending a message of a young woman who cannot be controlled.

"It's all about breaking free, being who you are and not being afraid to tell the world to back off sometimes, and do your thing and do what makes you happy," she said of the CD.

"The Climb is the best thing that's ever happened to me."

Miley Cyrus, singer and actress

What makes Miley happy, however, doesn't always make others happy. And the more she inches to adulthood, the more critics she seems to garner for behaviour deemed age inappropriate.

There was the 2008 dust-up over the Vanity Fair photo where it made her look topless, wrapped in a bedsheet (she says she was not). She danced with a stripper pole at the 2009 Teen Choice Awards. This year, video surfaced of Miley giving one of the producers of her film The Last Song a lap dance at the wrap party.

Earlier this month she simulated a girl-on-girl kiss while performing on Britain's Got Talent, and on the Much Music Awards, she gyrated onstage while wearing a revealing outfit.

Joan Ulrich, of Northville, Mich., worries about the affect Miley's recent behaviour will have on her young nieces.

"Their mom bought them tickets to see her show and they were so excited about her. They had her videos, T-shirts, the whole thing," she said. "Then she evolves into this sex kitten and there's no control with her."

But Miley brushes off her critics, deeming them unsatisfied and unhappy with their own lives.

"It's just kind of a sad thing to think about people and how they are. I never really let it affect me," she adds. "My mom is at the side of that stage and if I ever felt I was disappointing her or not making her proud, I would not do the things I do, but she's proud of me every time."

Corner's Peterson nominated for Dora awards

TV It's been just over a year since the pumps ran dry on the prairie comedy series Corner Gas, and co-star Eric Peterson clearly still has a lot of fuel in the tank.

The 64-year-old Saskatchewan native has been in six plays over the last year and a half — three of which have landed him nominations for this year's Dora Mavor Moore Awards, taking place Monday night.

And he has no plans to retire.

"This is a vocation, you know, I didn't choose acting, acting chose me," the Toronto resident, who played curmudgeon Oscar Leroy on Corner Gas, said in a recent interview.

"It's a bit like a fish walking on the beach when you can't act every day or be working on acting."

Peterson is up for three Doras, which honour the best in Toronto theatre: Outstanding Performance by a Male in a Principal Role for Billy Bishop Goes to War, and Outstanding Performance in a Featured Role/Ensemble for Of the Fields, Lately and Hamlet.

This is the most amount of Dora nominations he's received in one year, and he was "totally bowled over" and "very pleased" when he heard the news, he said.

"I've worked very hard this last year and a half at theatre and I've been richly rewarded."

Plummer feels at home at Stratford

Legendary Canadian actor Christopher Plummer says he wants to keep performing in the theatre for as long as he can once his latest turn at the Stratford Shakespeare Festival is done.

Some theatregoers have speculated that his role as Prospero in The Tempest this summer might be his swan song on the stage, as it was for the late William Hutt and — according to many scholars — the Bard himself (it's said to be Shakespeare's last full play).

But the 80-year-old Toronto native — who earned his first Oscar nomination this year for The Last Station — says that's not the case for him.

"I'm hoping to carry on forever," Plummer told The Canadian Press after Friday night's opening of The Tempest, in which he received a rapturous standing ovation that had him lingering onstage long after the rest of the cast had left.

The euphoric praise in the theatre extended through critics' reviews Saturday morning: the Globe and Mail said: "Plummer has the audience under his spell," and The Star said of his Prospero: "You don't get any higher up the Himalayas of acting than that."

Plummer has been performing at the renowned Stratford festival in southwestern Ontario intermittently for over half a century. His last performance at the festival was two years ago in the critically heralded Caesar and Cleopatra.

Being back in the picturesque city "feels very homecoming to me, very nostalgic for me," said Plummer, who now lives in the U.S.

"I began here in the '50s so it's sort of a bit like home," he added before mingling with guests — including Sen. Pamela Wallin and Florence Richler, widow of the late author Mordecai Richler — at the opening-night after-party in the Festival Theatre.

Plummer's latest Stratford stint — which runs through Sept. 12 and is over half sold out, said officials — comes at the urging of Des McAnuff, the festival's artistic director who is helming The Tempest and also oversaw Caesar and Cleopatra.

Though the actor had just been through a busy year that also included roles in the films The Imaginarium of Dr. Parnassus, Up, 9 and My Dog Tulip, he couldn't resist the role of Prospero the sorcerer when McAnuff offered it to him, he said.

"It's one of the great roles and carries with it a lot of (Shakespeare's) most famous, beautiful poetry," Plummer explained, decked to the nines in a white tuxedo jacket, black pants, light-blue dress shirt and navy-blue bowtie.

"It's a marvellously written role and one of the greats, so I think I've done them all now."

McAnuff says he and Plummer work so well together because they trust one another, and he hopes they collaborate again.

ROM exhibits sculptures, weapons from 2,200-year-old Chinese tomb

JOHN KELLIOR
for Metro Canada

The Royal Ontario Museum now houses an ancient military that unified a civilization.

The Warrior Emperor and China's Terracotta Army reveals the findings from the 2,200-year-old tomb of the first Chinese emperor. The burial chamber contained 8,000 life sized fighter sculptures, which were only part of a huge effort to provide the deceased king with everything he would need in the afterlife.

"This exhibit explores China after 500 years of war," explained senior ROM curator Dr. Chen Shen, at Friday's opening ceremonies in the museum's foyer. "Archeologists in Shaanxi province found more than a mausoleum; they found a complete recreation of that time and place."

The exhibition includes sculptures from the 1974 discovery, including archers and two of the nine life size generals from China's Qin Dynasty. Each terracotta statue has a distinct face. For military enthusiasts, there are real swords and suits of armour. A crossbow with its original reddish varnish is on display, along with videos with actors explaining how China's Emperor Zheng unified a bunch of squabbling fiefdoms.

According to Shen, the scale of the tomb goes beyond kingly grandeur. "The emperor was as much of a revolutionary in death as he was in life," said Shen, "through commissioning the reproduction of his entire world through art."

Among the 244 pieces imported for this exhibition are also the things an army in the afterlife needs, including cooking pots and building materials and even entertainers. The overall effect is less about learning about Emperor Zheng than it is about immersing one's self in daily life in Ancient China.

The completeness of the exhibition is what's most striking about it; life sized terracotta horse sculptures are of course amazing, and they make the real ancient Chinese riding bridle and other equestrian gear more fascinating.

Ordinary things like pipes and building materials make the exhibition as intimate as it is grand. It reveals through relics and video how the next few centuries of a recently united China played out. All the ancient goods here are entertainingly contextualized.

Shen sees this discovery as a victory for science and for humanity, containing one of the most poignant ironies in archeological history.

"The emperor planned to live forever in the afterlife, and mortal eyes were not supposed to ever see his terracotta army," said Shen, "but it was not until his tomb was discovered that mortals made him immortal."

Mel's ex gets restraining order

JUST ANOTHER DAY IN HOLLYWOOD: BREAKUP, BITTERNESS AND THE INEVITABLE RE-TRAINING ORDER Oksana Grigorieva, Mel Gibson's ex-girlfriend — and the mother of his youngest child — has reportedly obtained a restraining order prohibiting him from coming within 100 yards of her, according to TMZ.

Sources say the action stems from a violent confrontation between the two in January, three months before they announced their split. "She tried to protect his reputation, despite her fears of him and his verbal and physical abuse," a source says.

"She regrets having believed in his empty promises to obtain professional help to control his violent nature," Gibson reps deny he got violent with Grigorieva, whose reps will only say, "The true facts will be brought out in a court of law."

YES, EVERY TEENAGER ANTICIPATES THE DAY THEY GET TO MOVE INTO THEIR MULTI-MILLION DOLLAR MANSION Miley Cyrus is itching to turn 18, because it means she'll be able to move into her $3.4 million home, according to Exposay.

"I think I worked really hard to be able to have a place that is purely my environment and exactly the way I envision — kind of like a serene, tranquil place that can just be my space," the 17-year-old singer says.

As for college, Cyrus says it isn't part of her plan right now.

"My sister went to college for two years and then decided she wants to be a musician and now she is a musician," she says. "I just already know what I want to do and if there is ever a time where I want to go back, I can."

Jackson items auctioned

GLOVE FETCHES ALMOST TWO HUNDRED GRAND! Some fans of Michael Jackson celebrated the singer on the anniversary of his death by snatching up some of his personal property at a Las Vegas auction, including the Swarovski-crystal-studded glove

Jackson

Jackson wore on a 1984 tour, which fetched $190,000, according to the Las Vegas Sun.

The winning bidder, Wanda Kelley of Los Angeles, was prepared to pay even more than that. "Let's just say I wasn't walking out of here without that glove," she says.

A pair of Jackson's stage-worn loafers that were listed as worth $2,000 to $3,000 went for $90,000.

The custom jacket that the pop singer was wearing during his interview with Barbara Walters was listed at $6,000 to $8,000. It sold for $120,000.

A white Fedora sold for $56,250. One of the last autographs Jackson signed, and dated June 24, 2009, in his handwriting, went for $21,000.

Crab and Grapefruit Salad

INGREDIENTS:

4 grapefruits
2 tbsp light mayonnaise
1 tbsp finely chopped mango chutney
2 tsp Dijon mustard
1 tsp sesame oil
Salt to taste
1/4 tsp pepper
375 g lump crabmeat, cartilage removed
2 cups watercress, tough stems trimmed
1 Belgian endive, cut crosswise into 1 cm-wide strips
1 head Bibb lettuce, separated into leaves

METHOD:

1. With small paring knife, peel grapefruits. Separate grapefruit sections from membranes over bowl; reserve any juice that collects in bowl.

2. In medium bowl, whisk together mayonnaise, chutney, mustard, sesame oil, salt, pepper and 3 tbsp reserved grapefruit juice.

3. Add crabmeat, tossing to combine. Add watercress, endive and grapefruit sections; toss. Serve salad on bed of Bibb lettuce.

Health & Lifestyle

If you're like me, food is my best and worst friend. It's always there to comfort me and bring a smile to my face, but it's also the root of my unhappiness. When I look in the mirror or when my shirt / pant buttons scream for their life, I'm reminded about how I can't control my cravings and appetite. I have struggled with my weight and have tried everything. However, after a visit to the doctor, I have a completely new understanding of my body's ability to lose weight. Years of dieting have affected my ability to lose weight, but after consulting with Dr. Michael Ho, I have lost weight, regained the energy and I feel like a happy, healthy 34 yr old. "The reason most people can't lose weight is because of their hormonal imbalance caused by chemicals in foods, stress and a poor digestive system - preventing daily elimination," says Dr. Michael Ho.

Dr. Michael Ho is a doctor with over 20 years of clinical experience, specializing in drug-free treatments for Canadians. He has studied and worked in countries throughout the world and has devoted his life to Health and Medicine. Dr. Ho has been recognized for his ability to identify and correct the cause of the problem, providing long term solutions for his patients. He states, "One of the most vital health factors is our digestion. Irregularity causes toxic build up, which can lead to bloating, constipation, fatigue, hormonal imbalance and weight gain."

After extensive research and testing, Dr. Ho developed a natural detoxifying supplement for his patients. "This product is 100% natural and is comprised of vegetarian capsules, fibre and tea."

IMPROVES DIGESTIVE HEALTH
DR-HO'S Digestive Detox helps relieve bloating, constipation & gas, and helps improve regularity with no cramping or rushing to the washroom. You are always in control.

Patients experience tremendous results and detox has become one of the most recommended therapies to help improve digestion, reduce bloating and improve ability to lose weight. A clean digestive system is essential to increase your fat burning metabolism and strengthen your immune system.

Digestive problems can affect both your weight and health. Until the colon is cleansed and the toxins removed, nutrients will not properly absorb, and your poor digestion can cause constipation, gas, bloating, IBS, headaches and weight gain.

If you want to lose weight and get healthy, you need to cleanse your system of all the processed and synthetic foods, greasy foods and chemically treated meats that can be making you sick and fat. Dr.Ho's Detox helps remove build up, toxins and chemicals to increase your metabolism and help restore your health and weight.

DR-HO'S Detox also meets the strict requirements for safety and effectiveness and is made with the highest quality ingredients found in North America. DR-HO'S Detox will not cause diarrhea, cramping or fatigue and is recommended by doctors for anyone looking to lose weight and improve their digestive and overall health. "My patients lose weight, their hair & skin look healthier, they sleep better and have better energy because DR-HO'S Detox allows them to properly absorb the nutrients and eliminate the toxins and waste," declares Dr. John Fujimigari.

Since making the Detox System available to the public, we have sold out multiple times. "As a proud Canadian company, we have saved a limited number of Detox Systems and have an exclusive special for readers of the Metro paper. As a Summer Special, Dr.Ho has agreed to give the first 100 customers 50% off. Plus, you will get DR-HO'S Calorie Burn Weight Loss Booster.

"The Detox System will help you lose the weight you can't lose by just exercising. Try it today and feel lighter, more energized and look and feel healthier and younger again." The days of dieting and weight gain are over.

Life Changing Stories

"This is the best thing that's happened to me in 15 years for my health"

Hi it's now been 1½ months since I started the Digestive Detox. To me it's like this product saved my life. I'm 51 years old. For about 15 years of that, I never knew what a normal bowel movement was. I would go to the doctor and specialists for everything you can imagine. I have fibromyalgia, but for years I have complained about constipation. It was a normal thing to not go for 2 weeks at a time. They gave me prescriptions and nothing changed. Then for 3 years I would tell my doctor that I had so much pain and tell them the same story over and over that passing a bowel movement was like having a baby! It was hard as rock and would make me cry from the pain. My friends and family would make fun of me and ask me when I was having my baby because my stomach was so huge! My doctor always only said it was from the fibromyalgia. I was watching TV and thought yes this Dr. Ho is saying exactly what I thought. Now after being on the Digestive Detox I go 2 times a day! I also changed my diet to more natural good foods. My stomach now is gone! This is the best thing that's happened to me in 15 years for my health.

Audrey K

"I've had constipation all my life and Type 2 Diabetes for 10 years. I have lost 35 pounds of fat off my body. I look better, feel better and take no more meds."

- Audrey K.

After

"The Detox System is very easy to use and I noticed results fast! I have a problem with eating unhealthy foods, especially late at night. But with DR-HO'S Detox, I know I'm eliminating the fat and grease before it can absorb into my body."

- Vincent H.

After

"I have IBS, gas and bloating. Since taking the DR-HO'S Detox System, I feel so much better! My bowel movements are regular, I feel energetic! It's so simple to follow. I'm sleeping very well, that tea is the most relaxing tea - it's wonderful! And within 2 weeks, I've lost 6 lbs without doing anything different."
